March 25, 2009

Paul O'Sullivan, JAMS Music Teacher and Student Concert Director, wishes to invite all JAMS Students to participate in this season's Student Concert. The concert will be held at JAMS on Wednesday, March 25, 2009 at 7 pm.

Rehearsals: In order to play in the concert, the student must attend the rehearsals. Rehearsals will be a one-hour group class every Wednesday from 7:00 to 8:00, starting January 7th and lasting until the concert at the end of March. Students will receive three months of group class/practices in preparation for the show.

The Cost ???: All we ask is a one-time $25 enrollment fee to cover teacher costs. More importantly, we ask for commitment.

Commitment #1: Since there will only be, at most, 12 students invited to participate in this concert, every student will play a very important role. Students who commit to being a part of this must also be sure that they can commit to being at the rehearsals and the show.

Commitment #2: About one month prior to the concert, JAMS will distribute tickets for the show. Each student will buy ten tickets from JAMS for ten dollars each, total of $100. The student will then sell the tickets for $10. This teaches a very important lesson in a musician's life – self-promotion. Sell ten tickets and three months of instruction and a cool concert are only $25!

The skills learned in being a part of a band are so important: Interaction, creativity, tolerance, assertiveness are just a few, as well as confidence, performance and musicality. The memories (and the DVDs that parents film) of playing a rock concert on a full-production stage will last a lifetime.

Student and Parental/Guardian signatures at the bottom are not only acceptance to play in the concert, but also a commitment to attend rehearsals, attend the show, and buy 10 concert tickets at $10 each from JAMS when they are distributed.

To participate in the concert, please return the bottom portion of this invitation (must be signed by a parent/guardian).
